

The Cross Eyed Cricket and the Bow Legged Frog

(G)

The cross eyed cricket and the bow legged frog--Were heading up a Bluegrass (D) show
The frog was slapping on the Doghouse bass--And the cricket was sawing on the (G) bow
The three toed crow on the old five string--Was picking out a wagon load of (D) Earl
With a cute little grin playing a hot mandolin --Was a sexy little red haired (G) squirrel

They're playing Bluegrass (C) now—They're playing Bluegrass (G) now
Give the band a (D) hand-----They're playing Bluegrass (G) now

(MUSIC BREAK—Full Refrain-- 2 times)

The long black snake on the old Dobro--Was sliding up and down the neck
He made old Jerry look like a beginner--Stuck his tongue out with ever hot lick
It was long about dawn and time to go home--But the band had come to please
The mossy backed turtle dialed in the sound --You could hear a mosquito sneeze

(REFRAIN)

(MUSIC BREAK X2)

Well the more they played the louder the crowd--But when the old rooster crowed
The cricket and the frog said time to quit--We've got another show down the road
So come by the table and shake and howdy—You sure have been a lot of fun
Then the guitar man stepped up to the mic--And did a big Jimmy Martin "G" run

(REFRAIN) X2
