

He's Playing Bluegrass Now

(G)

He's playing Bluegrass now--he's playing Bluegrass (C) now
She (D) didn't have to tell twice--that lectric stuff ain't right
He's playing Bluegrass (G) now

There was a guy they called old Bob
Who played in a joint down the block
They say he picked the hottest licks in (C) town

Then Bob met a girl named Susie
Playing a 5 string by her Jacuzzi
He (A) thought she was the cutest thing a (D) round

(CHORUS)

Bob traded his smoky old Strato
For a brand new F hole Mando
And started working on that Monroe (C) sound

Old Bob got better and better
Then he and Susie got together
Man you (A) ought to hear their music (D) now

(CHORUS)

Now their little 6 piece band
Travels all over this land
You can count on them to put on a good (C) show

And when the show is through
They'll come by and pick with you
But leave your loud electric stuff at (D) home

(CHORUS)
